

INTERNATIONAL ARBITRATION SERVICES

While the opportunities of the global marketplace and business partners prospered in the last decade, the realities of international disputes have become disruptive, complicated and inevitable in the current economic environment. Arbitrations have become more prevalent as a resolution mechanism in international business disputes. These arbitrations have increased in number with related trends driven by geographic and economic factors.

Alvarez & Marsal's team of experts will effectively assist you in responding to complex construction, international accounting and financial matters. We draw from deep industry expertise, advanced technical skills and a thorough understanding of the arbitration process to consistently deliver independent support and opinions.

THE A&M ADVANTAGE

With experience in the unique discovery, analysis and testimony requirements of international disputes filed under ICC, ICSID and other international forums, our team assists in the financial evaluation of the liability phase and damage phase of an international dispute. This includes discovery support, analysis and expert testimony on complex international finance, accounting, economic and operational matters.

OUR SERVICES

Our experience with typical disputes includes failed joint venture agreements and appropriation of assets to a wide range of breach of contract issues and commodity contracts issues.

Valuation

Our team has assisted multiple clients in quantifying the economic impact of asset expropriation and issues surrounding multi-currency operations, government declarations, tax versus IFRS and U.S. GAAP accounting, and dynamic market factors impacting the analysis.

Lost Profit Analysis

A&M professionals work with technical experts to understand the economic consequences of the technical aspects related to a loss or interruption. Accounting records, forecasts, budgets, production plans, trading contracts and pricing data are all evaluated in context of market forces and technical limitations to develop a comprehensive economic analysis of areas that impact our clients.

Construction Disputes

A&M's construction professionals have experience in dealing with complex delay and quantum matters arising from international construction and engineering disputes. We have assisted clients and their legal teams in the energy, infrastructure, healthcare and real estate sectors globally.

Accounting Analysis

A&M team members have analyzed accounting for transactions affecting balance sheets, income statements and cash flow statements. We have assisted clients in understanding the impact associated with misstatements and also differences between U.S. GAAP and other accounting standards.

Forensic Technology

A&M's Forensic Technology team comprises senior forensic technologists who bring deep expertise in computer science and information systems, and offer a hands-on approach to collecting, preserving and analyzing electronic information.

Joint Venture and Acquisitions

Our professionals can interpret and quantify the financial terms of joint venture and acquisition agreements to assist in resolving transaction accounting and valuation issues. We review revenue and expenditures of the participants, analyze the respective accounting and calculate economic damages and price adjustments.
