Please note: A&M uses artificial intelligence (“AI”) tools, including internal and third-party applications (e.g., Microsoft Copilot, Jobvite Talent Fit), in accordance with Applicable Laws, for purposes including the following:

- To record and transcribe interviews to enhance the accuracy and recall of key points discussed. Recordings and transcripts may include personal information such as names, voices, and shared content. You will be notified when a meeting is being recorded, and such recordings are used in accordance with Applicable Laws and A&M’s internal policies. For more information regarding Microsoft Copilot see: (1) Data, Privacy, and Security for Microsoft 365 Copilot (<https://learn.microsoft.com/en-us/copilot/microsoft-365/microsoft-365-copilot-privacy>) (this page outlines how Microsoft 365 Copilot handles organizational data, privacy protections, and compliance commitments); and (2) Enterprise Data Protection in Microsoft 365 Copilot and Copilot Chat (<https://learn.microsoft.com/en-us/copilot/microsoft-365/manage-public-web-access>) (this page details the enterprise-grade data protection measures, including encryption, access controls, and Microsoft's role as a data processor under the Data Protection Addendum (DPA)).
- To assist in screening applications. A&M uses AI tools that identify information in candidate-provided resumes and CVs that is responsive to the requirements and qualifications set out in our job descriptions. The tools generate output that our team uses to identify which candidates have a skill set that matches the open position. The decision of whether to advance an application is made by human reviewers. We take reasonable measures to help ensure that our AI recruitment tools are used in a manner intended to be fair, lawful, and non-discriminatory, including maintaining governance and risk-management practices designed to identify, assess, and mitigate reasonably foreseeable risks of unlawful bias.
