Embedding tax planning into a company's strategic focus early in its lifecycle can significantly improve free-cash flows, create greater buying power for strategic acquisitions and improve global competitiveness.

A&M works with technology, biotech and life sciences companies to support their strategic tax planning throughout the company's lifecycle. We achieve results while managing risk and guide companies through key business optimization strategies.

Challenge

With U.S. corporate tax rates among the highest in the world and the low likelihood that U.S. tax reform will significantly lower corporate tax rates, many high-tech & life sciences companies continue to face challenges in remaining competitive in the global market.

Solution

A&M assists in the design of operating structures that align business goals with tax efficiencies to improve the overall performance of the business.

Impact

With proper planning, high-tech & life sciences companies gain improved cashflows for reinvestment in corporate development, M&A opportunities, lower effective tax rates and cash taxes, and improved operating structures.
